The blushing young bride thrust her head out of the car window as the train started off, and, after looking around for a moment or two, suddenly jerked her head back with a quick exchanation, and buried her face in her hands. Her loving, frightened husband sought to learn the cause of her dismay, and offered feeble consolation: is it, darling? What fright-ned it dear? What makes it cry?" There wasn't much to cry about to be sure; oh, no! Darling had only dropped a set of glitter-ing front teeth out of the window, that was all. The sad affair has cast a gloom over the entire community.

A tale of true love comes from-Indiana! Fourteen years ago a native of Indiana left his lady-love for the land of gold, "there to make a stake." During all these years the loving couple have each written and received two letters a week until a couple of weeks ago, when the faithful Joe Bowers returned to claim his bride. Mrs. Shoddy puckered up her mouth genteelly and told a gentleman friend that one of her lovely daughters was a "bluenet" and the other was a "bronze."

George Augustus Sam writes that "in no country in the world are so many men of shining talents, of noble mind, of refined taste, buried alive as in the United States."
